

Making Leaders by Making Disciples

Our Mission

Our mission is to promote the physical, spiritual, and emotional well-being of children by providing them with practical educational opportunities and meeting their basic daily needs.

PathWay Fellowship Missions was established by Pastor Alex Ramirez and Mrs. Terry Bhatia with its initial primary aspiration being meeting the most immediate needs of children in extreme poverty. Those needs include, but are not limited to: Non-perishable food items, clothing, medicine/first aid provisions, school supplies, and toys.

PFM has made countless shipments of boxes filled with non-perishable food items, clothing, and shoes, numerous backpacks filled with school supplies, medical supplies, and toys.

Currently, we continue to support our children and our full-time, and volunteer staff with these efforts.

The Lord has added key people of influence to PFM and with them, an expanded vision for outreach.

One of those Key people is Terry Bhatia, whom God has used to expand the ministry of PFM in the US mainland, in Hawaii, in Latin American countries like Venezuela and Peru.

Our work in Peru 🇵🇪

In 2018, thanks to the vision God planted in the heart of Terry, she was able to travel to Peru to meet with potential volunteers and staff, and to gather information for the possibility of a new work of PFM in that beautiful country.

MindCrafting

Most Christians are as selective in loving others as are non-Christians. Their attitude toward others is frequently dependent on the attitude expressed towards them, revealing that the Christians are not really “free indeed,” but are still in bondage to the flesh. This is one of the main stumbling blocks for the children of Christians.

Preface:

Every organization is a complex entity, woven together by a multiple and varied group of individuals who bring their unique attributes, aspirations, backgrounds, and behaviors to the table.

These diverse attributes add depth and richness to the collective knowledge and creativity within the organization. Moreover, individuals' aspirations and goals shape their motivations and drive, propelling the organization forward toward success.

It's also vital to recognize that every individual has weaknesses and shortcomings they bring to the organization that can impact the vision, and mission outcomes. This can manifest in many ways, such as poor communication, lack of motivation, or personal conflicts with other team members. It's important for organizations and leaders within to acknowledge and address these individual weaknesses in order to optimize team performance and fulfill their vision by leveraging each individual's strengths, empower and equip members to amend weaknesses, and create a more cohesive and successful team.

At the same time, it's also important for individuals to understand and respect each other's differences, since this can help to minimize conflicts and promote a more positive work environment.

By embracing the uniqueness and motivations of every individual, organizations can tap into a wide range of perspectives and ideas that can help to drive innovation and growth.

Finally, the behaviors exhibited by individuals, influenced by their personalities, past experiences, values, and worldview, contribute to the overall organizational culture, shaping the way people interact, collaborate, and achieve common goals. Thus, it is through the combination of these unique attributes, aspirations, backgrounds, and behaviors that an organization thrives and achieves its full potential.
